

CANTERBURY GOLF CLUB

One of the top Harry Colt designed courses in England

WWW.CANTERBURYGOLFCLUB.CO.UK

Golf in the Cathedral city

The fabulous district of Canterbury located in Kent includes the popular resorts of Herne Bay and Whitstable, The delightful coastal paths as well as some of the most picturesque countryside in the country make Canterbury an ideal location for a short break. The Cathedral-city's history and heritage is clear to see, as is Canterbury's stunning architecture, none less than world-famous, Canterbury Cathedral.

Canterbury offers many outdoor pursuits including golf which makes the area the perfect location for a relaxing short break or, a longer trip to explore all that this region of England has to offer.

Over the years, the heathland golf course has evolved with its natural surroundings. The Canterbury course is now protected by mature woodland, of which, much can be seen decorated by carpets of bluebells in the spring months. The exceptionally scenic golf course is also regularly visited by an abundance of wildlife and is classed as a very uplifting place to play a game of golf.

Kent offers exceptional value and choice. Visitors can enjoy an array of golf courses in the county from inland parkland courses to the coastal links that Kent has to offer.
Canterbury golf course was designed by the renowned golf course architect Harry Colt and was opened in 1927

Elevated tees, raised greens, steep climbs and sloping lies represent a true test of golfing ability

The Canterbury clubhouse offers a friendly and welcoming atmosphere for members and visitors alike. With a fully-stocked bar and variety of delicious home-cooked light snacks and main meal available daily, the superbly-appointed, clubhouse boasts stunning views out onto the 18th fairway and green.

The ideal view as you enjoy a beverage next to the roar of the open fire in the winter months or looking out from the open patio doors in the warmer climate.

Canterbury Golf Club welcomes society groups on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays throughout the year. The Club offer a variety of packages that can be tailored to meet the needs of the visiting party, combining excellent golf on the challenging Canterbury golf course with tasty dining options from the clubs professional catering team.